Lycett Gets Green Light From C of C

Bernard Lycett's positions on both the city council and the board of directors of the Daly City-Colma Chamber of Commerce were unanimously ruled "not in conflict" last week by chamber directors.

The board made the ruling at its regular monthly luncheon meeting at the Friar Room Thursday.

Lycett himself asked for clarification after another board member brought a paragraph in the chamber's by-laws to his attention, that stated... "the chamber shall take no part in endorsing or influencing candidates..."

Several directors expressed the opinion that Lycett's membership on the board certainly did not constitute an endorsement as a member of the council.

Lycett was president of the (Please See Page 2, Column 1)

Principals Given Salary Increase

By DON MILLER

Principals and consultants in the Jefferson Elementary School District will receive a 3.5 per cent salary increase in the next school year.

The pay raise was unanimously adopted by the district's board of trustees Monday night, ending a discussion of the salary schedule that had gone on for the past two months.

Top salary for junior high school vice principals under the new schedule will be $12,600; for principals, $13,650 and for consultants, $13,125.

In adopting the pay boost, the trustees decided not to include automatic "factors" in the schedule.

The factor is a multiple that would be applied to the top teacher salary to arrive at a principal's salary.

Trustee O. Wayne Douglas said the question of including a factor should be studied further. He added:

"If we do go the factor way, we have to be sure this is based on some concrete basis."

Earlier, Schools Superintendent Richard Foster had recommended the adoption of the schedule with factor multiples.

He suggested that the new schedule "would put us in a very competitive position to acquire an outstanding administrator."

Foster said the pay increases, together with present automatic increases, would cost a total of $2,662. If the position of a principal who is retiring at the end of this school year were not filled, the cost would be $13,650, he said.

The retiring principal is H. Z. Weibel of Daniel Webster.

Douglas questioned the wisdom of not having principals assigned full-time to all the district's schools.

At present, six district schools share principals.

Douglas said that a principal's salary "is really a small price to pay when we have a" (Please See Page 2, Column 7)

School Unity Hearing Set

A public hearing on unification of five North County school districts into one will be held at 8 p.m. tomorrow in the Little Theatre of Westmoor High School.

The augmented County Committee on School Reorganization will hear the public's views on unifying the elementary school districts of Jefferson, Laguna Salada, Bayshore and Brisbane with the Jefferson Union High School District.

A previous public hearing held late last year, was ruled invalid by the district attorney's office.

The South San Francisco High School student will be 18 on Friday. The dark-haired beauty got the contest bug last summer on a visit to her home town of Milwaukee where she was entered in a contest at a dance by her escort. She almost won but was disqualified toward the end because she was only a visitor, not a native. She plans to be a dental assistant.

'Emergency' Okayed

Work is scheduled to get under way today on the replacement of Westmoor High School's leaking hot water line.

Jefferson High School Trustees Monday night were told that county school authorities have approved a "state of emergency," permitting the district to go ahead with the work without letting it out for bid.

Work on the water line, placing it on top of the school, will cost the district approximately $125,483 for time and materials plus an

ANNUAL SPRING CLEANUP

D. C. Puts on New Face

Daly City starts putting on a new face next week.

It's the city's way of sprucing up for spring—an annual cleanup program that will be in gear from Monday until Sunday, April 26.

The program is sponsored by the Daly City Fire Department and other city agencies.

Lending a big helping hand in the proceedings will be the Daly City Scavenger Company, which will open its dumping area off the Old Coast Highway for free disposal throughout the week.

Hours for the free dumping will be from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. each day.

Residents may reach the dumping area by proceeding south on Skyline Boulevard to John Glenn Drive, then west to Skyline Drive, south to Belcrest Avenue to the Old Coast Highway and then north on the highway to the dump.

Firemen have urged homeowners to clean out their yards and basements and remove such combustible items as dried out bushes, scrap lumber, old cans of paint and discarded furniture.

Fire Chief Elmer Kennedy offers these fire prevention suggestions for homeowners in the cleanup campaign:

Clear out debris: Get rid of rubbish or anything you are not going to use—such as old newspapers, magazines, broken furniture and the like—that may have accumulated in attics, closets, cellars or garages.

Clean up after painting jobs: Throw out paint and oil-soaked rags or keep them in a closed metal container, since they may heat up from chemical action and burst into flames. Hang up paint-soiled clothing so air can circulate around it.

Avoid using flammable liquids: Remove them from your home. A tiny flame or spark, even from static electricity or from a pilot light, will ignite gasoline vapor. Do not use highly flammable or explosive fluids for dry cleaning!

Check electric appliances: See that they are in good repair and that cords are not worn or frayed.

Any needed repair work, including repairs or extension of electric wiring, should be done by a qualified electrician.

When buying new cords or appliances, look for the Underwriters Laboratories, Inc., label or marker.

Check stoves, heaters and furnaces: See that they are clean and in good condition; have needed repair work done.

D.C. Accepts Last Knowles Avenue Land

Trade, Ranch Zoning Are Approved

By RON BATES

The Daly City Council slipped several hanging projects into high gear Monday night in a short pre-election night meeting before letting incumbents Francis Pacelli and Albert Polonsky get in some last minute campaigning.

Among the projects sent speedily on their way were the Knowles Avenue project, a land trade with Pacifica and the zoning of the Christen Ranch.

The Knowles Avenue project is a $500,000 street improvement plan, designed to facilitate traffic between Mission Street and Junipero Serra Freeway, now under construction.

The city council accepted three final pieces of property for the project after City Attorney Paul Hupf had taken the owners to court.

Two of the property owners agreed to the city's price in a pre-trial conference and the third price was determined in a condemnation trial.

Once the council took ownership of the property, it immediately authorized the sale of 19 homes located on the land. These would then have to be moved by their purchasers.

City Engineer William Chapman said homes not sold will be demolished.

The land trade with Pacifica has been discussed for three years and involves property in the southwest part of the city near the Westlake Terrace section.

The council instituted proceedings, with the concurrence of the Pacifica City Council, to take in a 66-acre parcel of land bounded by the ocean, Belcrest Avenue, the Edgemark Freeway and a proposed road on the south.

The Franklin Delano Roosevelt School is included in the property.

Daly City will give to Pacifica a 33-acre parcel, formed by the (Please See Page 2, Column 6)

OUTFALL LINE PROBE

Jury Should Get Report—Minshew

Pacifica Councilman Harland Minshew proposed last week that all information and data compiled in the city's current investigation into its broken sewage outfall line in Sharp Park be turned over to the county grand jury.

He told a meeting of the City Council that the county investigative body should determine if a jury probe should be made.

Meanwhile, City Manager Karl A. Baldwin reported that consulting engineer Edgar Griswold was still making dives to study damage to the outfall line. Divers early in February discovered that a 600-foot steel section of the pipe had broken off and was lying three feet down in the ocean bottom.

The council received a letter from C. C. Rinfret, asking that an outside agency investigate the entire sewage disposal problem rather than having the city investigate.

In other actions, Council: Passed a resolution adopting a Palmetto Avenue parking and traffic plan.

Agreed to erect a fence along property along Esplanade after Baldwin reported that it has cost the city around $1,000 to clear sand from the street drifting from nearby property.

The situation was so bad, it was reported, that trucks could not get into the new north city post office.

Baldwin said the property owner has refused to erect a fence along his property.

Adopted ordinances prohibiting barbed wire in residential districts; changing a previous solicitors' law to reduce annual renewal fees of local solicitors from $25 to $5 and rezoning property on Carmel Avenue from residential to commercial.

Agreed to allow payroll deductions for disability insurance, provided that 25 per cent of city employees request it, that the policy is not limited to one company and that deductions cost the city nothing.

Safety Move To Be Made, S.S.F. Told

The prospect of improved safety measures for pedestrians at Junipero Serra Boulevard and Clay Avenue in South San Francisco was a considerably brighter this week.

The improved outlook is the result of a meeting last week of South San Francisco officials and state highway personnel in Sacramento.

There was no decision on what solutions the state might offer to safety problems at the intersections, but one was promised "within two to three weeks."

Mayor Patrick Ahern led the South San Francisco delegation, which included Westborough and Winston Manor residents, Councilmen Guido Rozzi, Emilio Cortesi, and Frank Bertucelli, City Attorney John Noonan, and City Manager Eugene Aiello.

Coaches Want More Pay for After School

JUHS Defers Bid; Study Ordered

By LOUANNE HEATH
The North Peninsula League faced the possibility today of having to suspend play after this season.

The possibility was raised Monday night when coaches in the league indicated they would not continue to work after school hours without additional compensation.

Their stand was voiced at a four and a half hour meeting of the board of trustees of the Jefferson Union High School District Monday night.

The board, after listening to pleas for extra pay from the coaches for two and half hours, passed a motion to table discussion of the extra pay proposal for further study.

The coaches said that without additional pay, they would no longer participate in any after school athletic programs.

Thus, the North Peninsula League would be forced to suspend operations until extra pay was approved or until the coaches could be replaced by others willing to continue to work under the current policy.

This second alternative would take about a year to implement, the coaches indicated.

NPL Coaches Ask Extra Pay

(Continued From Page 1) ward Morgan, in recommending the extra pay proposal be tabled indefinitely, declared: "There is no doubt whatsoever that the coaches are deserving of the extra pay. I have publicly discussed this matter before. We are getting cheap labor for professional services in an area of vital importance. But we must consider other people (teachers in other after school programs) and unfortunately there has not yet been time to study this in depth."

Don Delbon, junior varsity basketball coach at Terra Nova and a member of a large delegation of coaches present at the meeting, entered an impassioned plea for "livable wages."

He declared: "I need the money to help pay our bills—but I've only been in this (coaching) business a short time. Some of these coaches have been waiting 16 or 17 years to get paid for all the extra time they spend coaching."

In petitioning the board to act now, the coaches re-emphasized a previous assertion that they were trying to work with the board in money matters and that the proposal would not cost the district any money.

"If the board doesn't act now," Jefferson basketball coach Michael Orlich predicted, "it will cost the district more in the long run." And he added: "We have considered this question before but have tabled

In other action, City Manager Edward Frank reported that a meeting with San Francisco Mayor John Shelley would be set up sometime soon concerning bus service.

He said San Francisco officials were busy preparing budgets and Daly City was busy with municipal elections.

Frank Curry said that discussions with San Francisco two years ago never got further than the talking stage.

He said Municipal Railways officials insisted that a survey be made at Daly City's expense.

Frank said that public relations with San Francisco "has improved quite a bit since then."

Lycett added: "At that time there was a Republican mayor. Now there is a Democrat."

Looks Are Deceiving

THAT'S NOT Pierre Salinger handing senatorial hopeful Alan Cranston a cigar and straw at a charter night banquet of the Pacifica Junior Chamber of Commerce Friday night. It's only his look-alike, Ed Solomon, who with his wife heads the Daly City Democratic Club. Both are Cranston supporters, they told Post-Times Photographer Howard Frankhouse who noticed Solomon's resemblance to another senatorial candidate and set up the picture. Solomon admitted his friends sometimes call him "Pierre."

Mrs. Pauline Finerty and John Siacotos of Winston Manor described the difficulties there, where two boys were fatally injured within eight days this winter.

Herbert Bloom outlined traffic problems in the growing Westborough community, which feeds all its autos onto Junipero Serra at a single intersection without traffic lights.

Residents have been asking for an overpass, which would cost an estimated $80,000.

State highway officials have previously resisted the proposal, and equally opposed installation of a traffic light at the intersection.

They have claimed there is not sufficient traffic for such a crossing.

Mayor Ahern, backed by Mrs. Finerty, and Siacotos, countered that there is more than enough risk, since school children must cross the boulevard on their way to classes.

"It was very fruitful, I think we came home with the bacon," said Rozzi.

Mayor Ahern commented that he, too, was "very satisfied."

He commended the state highway men, and Assemblyman Leo Ryan, who set up the meeting.

Highway officials promised to report their decision to Ryan within a short time.

The session reviewed the cost and advisability of traffic signal lights, and a pedestrian overpass, as well as other possible solutions.

It's Official! GOP in D.C., Says Senate

The fact that the Republican Convention in July will be held in Daly City, not San Francisco, was acknowledged last week by none other than the California State Senate.

A resolution commending the county's second largest city for its accomplishments and wishing it good luck in handling the convention traffic and crowds was passed by the Senate after being introduced by Senator Richard Dolwig.

Dolwig said he did not want to take anything away from the great effort made by San Francisco to bring the convention to the Bay Area. But he thought it "only correct" to recognize Daly City for its part in the event.

Cow Palace officials fought the annexation of Bayshore City last year and relations in recent months have not been too smooth between the two entities.

Horse Drags Pacifica Girl

A 12-year-old Pacifica girl was badly injured Saturday night when she was dragged a half mile by a runaway horse.

Sandra Jones, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles P. Jones, 840 Arguello Boulevard, was taken to Peninsula Hospital with severe facial abrasions, a concussion and a shoulder injury.

Pacifica police said the girl was tossed from the saddle of the horse at Cabrillo Highway and Crespi Drive.

Her heel caught in a stirrup and the horse started to gallop down Cabrillo until it reached a gasoline station.

Attendants at the station rushed out, corralled the horse and freed the girl. They said the horse then broke loose and returned to its stable.

She said the mothers had appeared at a school board meeting to ask for the guard and a letter was supposed to be sent to the council requesting the guard.

Mayor Micheal DeBernardi said the council was not aware of any letter having been received by the city and instructed City Manager Edward Frank to track down the request.

Children attending Woodrow Wilson School are in the kindergarten through third grade. DeBernardi said there should be no problem in paying for a guard at the crossing.

Reform Needed In Assessment, Cranston Says

California must soon revamp its methods of assessing property for tax revenue, Alan Cranston, state controller told a charter night meeting of the Pacifica Junior Chamber of Commerce last week.

Speaking before a full house of more than 300 listeners in Nick's Restaurant in Rockaway Beach, Cranston kept his remarks non-political.

FRED BARRACO
Exalted Ruler

S.S.F. Elks Elect Ruler For '64-65

Fred Barraco of 55 Helen Drive, Millbrae, has been elected exalted ruler of Elks Lodge 2091 in South San Francisco for the 1964-65 year.

The lodge serves South San Francisco, Daly City, Pacifica, San Bruno and Millbrae. It meets each Tuesday at 8 p.m. in the lodge's quarters at Chestnut Street and Hillside Boulevard in South San Francisco.

Barraco has been a member of the lodge since it was chartered. He is the first officer to have progressed through all the group's executive positions.

Also elected are: Pat Morello, leading knight; Robert Granger, loyal knight; Earl Goodway, lecturing knight and Dan Morrison, tiler.

Barraco appointed John Hoffman, esquire; Don Leshner, captain, and Robert Donnelly, in-guard.

A Glimmer Shows Thru A Barrier

A glimmer of light has showed through a communication barrier erected in recent months between Daly City and the State Division of Parks and Beaches.

A meeting between officials of the two public entities to iron out differences produced a liaison link.

He is David Redding, who has been placed in charge of State beaches in San Mateo County.

City Manager Edward Frank said the liaison man will cut down on red tape and will provide the city with someone to see if more problems develop at Thornton Beach.

The city and division disagreed sharply late last year when four homes were endangered by slides above the beach.

City Engineer William Chapman said a drainage line that collapsed during the slide should be routed through the park.

The state refused to grant a requested easement and the collapsed drainage line was replaced by the city, at a cost of over $20,000, in its original position.

The city and division also have had disagreements over a 50 cent beach use fee, initiated recently and the sanitation district's access rights to inspect its ocean outfall line.

The division representative has said the sanitation district would be granted the requested access rights.

He is running for the Democratic nomination to the United States Senate.

Pointing out that some 180 persons had become "new Californians" during the course of the affair before he spoke, Cranston cited the inequality of present tax assessment methods and said the property owner is rapidly becoming tired of his roll as the main supporter of needed new schools.

According to Cranston, one new elementary and one new secondary school is being built in the state each week.

He cited the growth of college education and pointed out that state colleges, which now have an enrollment of 135,000, will have an enrollment of 235,000 within a few years.

The University of California, now the nation's largest university with 64,000 students, will have 74,000 students by 1970. He said $400 million alone is being spent for construction of four new University of California campuses.

"We must reform the property tax," Cranston asserted, citing two Kern County school districts as examples of present inequalities.

One, he said, has an assessed valuation of $104 per capita while another, nearby, has a per capita valuation of $574,000.

Because of the age of automation, education is becoming more and more important, Cranston continued.

The lack of education could lead to increased relief costs, which, in turn, would lead to tax burdens that would be "catastrophic."

Leading into the necessity of outlawing war, Cranston said of all taxes paid, $2 out of $3 go to the federal government.

And 73 cents of every $1 of the federal government budget goes to pay for the cost of war — "past, present or future."

"If we do not bring this to a halt the government will soon go bankrupt," Cranston asserted, warning that the present trend will soon bring us to a society "dedicated by military needs," or, worse, a war that "will eliminate the human race."

Later, during a later question and answer period, Cranston said while he does not now favor admission of Red China to the United Nations we must go back to period where recognition of a government had nothing to do with "approval or disapproval."

He said we must eventually recognize governments that govern a specific area, whether we like them or not.

The candidate said we must halt the trend towards "overkill" and cited a recent statement of Defense Secretary Robert McNamara that we now have the nuclear equivalent of 30 million pounds of TNT for every individual on earth.

"We can kill each individual several times over," he said. But, as man for the first time has the power to wipe out himself, he has, also for the first time, the power to eliminate disease, ignorance and other social evils, the candidate pointed out.

"Our choice is simple." "I believe the ultimate situation is to achieve forcible disarmament through the United Nations," he continued.

"We must work this out through the UN by talking with other nations and working with them."

In answer to questions from the audience, Cranston said: He opposes a proposal by Jesse Unruh, speaker of the Assembly, that local school districts be "compelled" to merge.

That a domestic peace corps is a "fine approach" to meeting problems of local education in some areas.

That a UN peace force be the only armed force other than those needed for the purposes of keeping domestic peace.

BEING AN afficionado—perhaps, even, a connoisseur—of the Good Old Days, we thought, a couple of years ago, that these crazy modern kids had finally gone the limit when they began attending baseball workouts in Bermuda shorts and, occasionally, even wearing football jerseys.

But, like the old song, "How Deep Is the Ocean," it seems there is no limit, nowadays, to how high youth can stoop.

After a thorough fortnight's survey, we have discovered that today's baseball playing youth has never heard of the Nicklebrick!

Now, any hip, nonmodern youth who ever trod a sandlot has not only heard of the Nicklebrick, but has probably, at one time, lived with one trapped in a rear Levi pocket.

For the uninitiated, a Nicklebrick was an ultra-extra-very cheap baseball commonly found in five and ten's under such glamorous labels as "All-Star Baseball."

THE ETYMOLOGICAL background of the Nicklebrick, obviously, is derived from a much earlier and stable time when nickels were nickels and George Washington could toss a $1.01 silver dollar across the Potomac without having it devalue to $1 in crystals by the time it reached the other side.

In our era, however, these gems went for about 25 to 25 cents, and if you got a rare 50-center you were kicked out of the neighborhood for showboating.

Actually, the only difference between the two-bitter and the four-bitter was that the four-bitter had red and blue strings, making it the Bentley of the Nicklebrick line.

These Nicklebricks were great baseballs — until you started playing with them. Especially hitting them.

TALK ABOUT the Dead Ball Era, Cap Anson never had it so good.

We had it with the Nicklebrick 50 years after Anson retired.

We didn't gauge a guy's power by how far he hit the Nicklebrick, but by how flat he hit it.

If we whacked a Nicklebrick out of the infield, you were given the ball for a souvenir.

Biggest hero on our block was a new kid in the neighborhood named Roy who was 13 and fat, which qualified him as our cleanup man.

First Nicklebrick he hit disintegrated before our very eyes.

BALLPLAYERS call our practice balls "rocks." There was no such thing as a practice ball on our team, and if there was, it was also the game ball. We called our taped Nicklebricks "clods."

They were the only balls ever made that windows broke.

But Nicklebricks threw very well, and offered great feeling of pride, even grandeur, to the young owner who experienced the inimitable feeling of wealth a boy has when he can fling a slick, new, glistening baseball to an envious companion.

We'll never forget our first Nicklebrick. Its slickness had caused us to throw a few wild ones and a 12-year-old kid, the "pro" of the block, suggested we rub some dirt on it.

We did. And the cover came off.

Undaunted, we bought another glistening beauty, and the neighborhood bully came by and bounced it on the cement, flattening it in the middle of his third O'Leary.

There were advantages to the Nicklebrick. Its lopsidedness allowed us to throw magnificent curves, and if you ever tried to field a lopsided ball on a sandlot, you know the Nicklebrick developed quick hands and great protective instincts.

No, there'll never be another pseudo-ball like the Nicklebrick, because for all of its passivity, there was a certain strength of character, a certain nobility about it which belied its game performance; indeed, a paradoxically enduring attitude it assumed as, battered gracefully, its cover majestically flying off—like a bird shedding on the wing—it fluttered into baseball immortality... economically.

WE'VE SPOKEN too soon again, it seems.

Last week we revealed the unusual fact that Terra Nova golf coach Floyd Gonella had never beaten a member of his squad on the links in his four years as head club welder.

Because of a never-say-die freshman, however, it developed only this week that Floyd now has that chance.

Seems fifth spot on the TN golf team was about a dead heat between two nice freshman boys whom Floyd couldn't choose between. So he told them to play 18 holes at Sharp Park, and since he couldn't supervise that day, to have the starter sign the card, verifying the match.

Next day the two dead-earnest boys presented their signed to Gonella, and breathlessly told him of a stirring match which ended in a tie and which had to be settled in a sudden death playoff hole which was decided by a single stroke.

The boys left Floyd's office, the benevolent victor's arm around the good loser's shoulder.

And then Gonella, horrified, examined the cards. The freshmen had hung up scores of 136 in the regulation round, and the sudden death had been decided nine strokes to eight.

Gonella, incidentally, is perhaps the fastest rising young man in the Jefferson Union High School District. In a period of little more than two years he has gone from Coach of the Year (football, '62), to Boys' Dean, to Vice Principal, duties he will assume in the fall as part of a new administrative setup in the district. At 30, Floyd will be the youngest vice principal in the area.

ALRIGHT, DiMaggio, alright, you home wrecker. This is the end of it! First our wife thinks you're handsome, and then our mother-in-law agrees, but when HER mother phones from Oakland to confirm the other two opinions...

Colts Bolster Defense

Harris Goes To Outfield; Price at 3rd

By RON BATES

SOME DEFENSIVE moves in the infield and some added strength from last year's successful lightweight team may combine to give the El Camino Colts enough push to move them up one notch from last year's second place finish in the North Peninsula League baseball standings.

Coach Harry Pitkoff has moved the versatile Walt Harris from third base to the outfield to make room for Steve Price, a promising player from last year's lightweight squad.

The move, Pitkoff believes, has firmed up the infield defensively and has produced an added dividend.

Harris' new home, the windy left field at El Camino, fits him comfortably and Pitkoff says he is doing "an excellent defensive job."

"We were hurt last year in defense," Pitkoff said. "I had to sacrifice something to keep my good bats in there."

In addition to having a good glove, Price has contributed with his bat and has earned the number three position in the batting lineup.

THE DEFENSIVE infield of the Colts may be one of their strongest assets this year.

Besides Price, Pitkoff has All-League shortstop Brian Cate back to help.

Cate, who hit .344 last season, may also see action at first or in the outfield. "He is one of the best hitters on the Peninsula," Pitkoff said.

Veteran Mike Laurel, who had a perfect fielding season last year, will be manning his old stand at second.

Pitkoff says Laurel is "one of the most underrated players" in the NPL.

Another veteran will be at first, Dennis Davis, who was edged out of the all-league selections last year, has shown promise of stardom so far this practice season.

He was named to the all-star team in the Easter Tournament held in South San Francisco earlier this year.

THE FORMER lightweight who are expected to contribute heavily to the Colt cause are outfielders Wayne Barbarotto, Mickey Ackley and Mike Ebert.

All three were named to the All-Lightweight team and have the potential to produce with the bat.

Barbarotto saw action at first base last year and was one of the squad's big hitters.

Stocky Ernie Tressetti, a veteran, has earned the starting role in right field opposite Harris. He has the build to become a power hitter, Pitkoff says.

Harris, in left, is also expected to provide the Colts with hitting power.

"He's not one to bat for an average," Pitkoff says. "He is a clutch hitter who hits for distance."

Center field will be patrolled by Bob Edwards, another "strong man" who has hitting potential Pitkoff said. Edwards also sees action as a pitcher.

AT THE CATCHER'S position is Mike Tyler, who is "just starting to hit the ball solid," according to Pitkoff. He tabs the catcher as an all-league prospect along with Cate, Davis, and pitching ace Mark Avelar.

Pitkoff goes along with the rest of the league coaches in stressing the fact that it will be "a pitcher's league" this year.

"The pitcher who has a good day will decide the game," he said. "I don't think anybody will go undefeated this year. It's going to be a vicious battle all the way to the end."

The Colts will have their number one pitcher returning. He is left-hander Avelar. Backing him up in the number two spot vacated by Hal Westmoreland is Arnold Andreacchi. He pitched a shutout against Richmond and four innings of shutout ball against San Francisco State in practice.

TRYING TO move up on the pitching staff are veteran Mike Shaumassy and former lightweights Reed Anderson and Terry Bessie.

"Shaumassy may be a big workhorse for us," Pitkoff said. "He is probably one of the hardest throwers in the league."

The righthander notched wins against Terra Linda and St. Ignace and has pitched shutout ball for the last 14 practice innings.

The Colts have been tabbed as one of the teams to beat by the other league coaches.

The Oceana sharks will get the first crack at them when the two clubs meet in the league opener at El Camino Friday.

BREDE GETS WIN

Oceana Defeats State Jayvees

The Oceana Sharks marked themselves as a power to be reckoned with in the upcoming North Peninsula League baseball season by registering an 8-7 win over the San Francisco State College junior varsity at Oceana.

Pitcher Ernie Bredé went nine innings, striking out seven batters and driving in five of the Sharks' eight runs to notch the win.

The Sharks' two runs in the first inning were both unearned. Three walks, a single by Steve Rentmeester and a hit batter accounted for the scores.

In the third, however, the Sharks found their batting eye. Jim Maule blasted a double and then came home when Bredé singled to make it 8-0.

The batting barrage continued in the fourth when John Perry lost the ball on a 350-foot blast over the left field fence.

Bob Folger got on base by virtue of a State error. Doug Rhodes singled and Maule walked to load up the bases and set the stage for a double by Bredé to clear them for three more runs.

The final Shark tally came in the fifth inning on a Ken Oden single and a double by Rhodes.

A State rally in the top of the sixth produced five runs and threatened to tie up the game. With a man on third, Bredé got the last State batter to fly out.

Terra Linda Tops Indians

Jefferson's baseball team exploded for four runs in the first and two runs in the second to jump to an early 6-1 lead in a practice game against Terra Linda last week.

But the lead didn't last long and the Indians were still looking for their first win. Terra Linda scored four big runs in the top of the third, added the tying run in the fifth and clinched the victory with two in the eighth to notch an 8-6 win.

Tolito Solita blasted a home run over the right field fence with one aboard to lead the Indian hitting. He also hit a double.

Colts Lose to Gator Jayvees

Colt hurler Mark Avelar gave up only five hits to the San Francisco State junior varsity, but the Gators were able to produce four runs from them to beat El Camino, 4-0 last week in a practice game.

Catcher Ed Schultz was the big gun for State with a double and a triple.

The Colts got three hits, but were left stranded on base.

Harvard's only undefeated varsity team during 1963 was its squash team.

Terra Nova Drops 5-2 Decision to Bearcats

The San Mateo Bearcats took advantage of an off day by Terra Nova hurler Kurt Hibbard to notch a 5-2 win over the Coastside team last week in a practice game.

Hibbard permitted five runs in the first four innings. Reliever Dave Crosby pitched three innings of no-hit ball for the remaining three innings but the Tiger batters couldn't top with the needed runs to overcome the lead.

The Tigers scored in the second inning, when Glen Sievert walked, stole second and went to third on a passed ball. Mike LaFontaine's long sacrifice fly to center field enabled Sievert to score.

The Tiger score in the fifth also came on stolen bases and passed balls. This time it was Larry Ferguson. He walked, went to second on a passed ball, stole third and came home on a passed ball.

Warrior Netters The South San Francisco High School tennis team, paced by John Ellsworth, won its twelfth match of the year by handily defeating Sacred Heart, 7-0, on the winner's courts Friday.

Jeff, Ram, Warrior Spikes Win

Indians Nip Terra Nova On Last Leg

By CRAIG BECKHEVER

In as close a track meet as you could hope for, Terra Nova High School, battling Jefferson High right down to the wire, had victory wrested from their grasp in the final leg of the final event Friday afternoon at Jefferson.

Needing only a victory in the relay to turn a 60-57 deficit into a 62-60 victory, the Tigers carried the lead up to the final exchange of batons when Jeff's Leo Gotelli turned on the steam to turn the event into a dead-heat and save the day for the Indians who emerged with a 62½-59½ victory.

The win kept the Tribe even with powerhouse Westmoor who romped over Oceana, South San Francisco defeated El Camino in another close one, 65-56.

Westmoor, winning every single event and sweeping seven, wrote a new school record in the books when Milo Torres turned in a 10:32, two mile. Roy Pinelli, with wins in the 220 and 440 remained undefeated in these events for the year.

Meanwhile, in South San Francisco, Jay Glover putted the shot 50-3 to improve his own "league best" loss by nearly four feet to move out head and shoulders over NPL competition in this event.

The Warriors' Ray John turned in a 10.2 hundred to lead a second on the day's activities while Sherman Habs of El Camino swept the hurdles in leading the Colts to their near miss.

South San Francisco's Bees did their bit in the Warrior sweep over El Camino with a 72-40 win.

Leopards Are Surprised by Roofing Cats

Here is a rundown of action in the two remaining Daly City Recreation Department basketball leagues, still playing last week:

SEVENTH GRADE

Though the PAL Celtics still dominate the league, the spotlight this week is on the BYA Bender Roofing Cats for a surprise win over the OLM Leopards in overtime.

Jim McGuigan was the hero for the Cats, hitting 5 points. Joel Carrara of the Cats proved himself one of the league's top stars with a 20-point performance in the upset.

The loss put the Leopards in a tough spot. They must defeat the PAL Celtics to hold on to second place.

The Holy Angels Padres swamped the crippled PAL Vikings 50-35. Carl Campos with 18 points led the Vikings while Joe March also had 18 for the Padres.

EIGHTH GRADE

The BYA Daly City Drugs Playboys retained their single game lead over the PAL Bears.

The Playboys had to dig in and fight off a determined Wildcat team before winning, 31-27. George Calios gave the Wildcats a real chance at a surprise upset with a 19 point spurge.

The rampaging PAL Bears clawed up the outsized OLM Cubs, 73-43. Grady Proctor led the Bears with 18 points.

Chris Cosola of the Cubs matched his tallies with 18.

PAYETTE, NACCA STAR Westmoor Downs San Mateo, 7-4

The Westmoor Rams unleashed an 11-hit barrage to power their way to a 7-4 victory over the San Mateo Bearcats in a practice game last week.

Third baseman Bill Nacca who hit two-for-two and drove in three runs during the game, started the game off with a single. Ed Perry walked and pitcher Dave Williams hit a blooper to load up the bases with only one out.

Dusty Nolan hit a long sacrifice fly to drive in Nacca before San Mateo could quell the Ram drive.

The Rams added three more runs in the fourth. Catcher Bob Hansen got on base with a single and advanced to third when Dan Payette hit a sharp double to left center. Payette went 4-for-4.

Nacca's single to left was enough to send Hansen and Payette home and put the Rams ahead 3-0. Then T. J. Delbex drove in Nacca.

The Bearcats came back with two runs in the bottom of the fourth.

Westmoor added three insurance runs in the top of the sixth on three stolen bases by Delbex, Perry and Nolan, who got on base with walks. All three runs were unearned.

Williams, who was taken out in the sixth after he was hit with a ball, was credited with the win. Williams, Randy Baumgartner and John Dorris combined to scatter nine hits in the Ram victory.

Oceana's Rich Bermudez was the first man to make it to first base when Hovley walked him in the eighth. Hovley promptly eliminated him by picking him off while striking out the next batter. Bruce Allen also drew a walk.

Bearcats Roll Past Rams in Track, 68-54

The San Mateo High School track team ran into an unusually nice day at Westmoor in Daly City last week and promptly took advantage of the situation.

The Bearcat team, one of the powers in the Mid-Peninsula League, was none too polite to the North Peninsula League host, defeating the Westmoor trackmen, 68-54.

Coach Bob Lotti's Rams gained the upper hand in the track events, only to see their lead completely dissipated in the field events.

The Mateans won the discus, shot-put, pole vault and broad jump to gain the win.

Westmoor's Roy Pinelli continued his dominance in the long sprints by winning the 220 and the 440. Pinelli traversed the 220-yard run in 22.3 seconds and won the 440 in 51.2.

In the 220, Pinelli was followed closely by the Rams' Marc Mallinger and John Dorris to register the only sweep of the day in any event.

San Mateo's Joe Abernathy was the only other double winner, taking the 180-yard low hurdles in 21 seconds flat and the broad jump with a 22-foot leap.

The Westmoor B's came to within six points of overtaking San Mateo. They lost, 58½ to 52½. The C's also lost, 56-39.

Volkswagen, Italian style.

The Karmann Ghia goes to show you what happens when you turn a Volkswagen over to an Italian designer.

It comes out with a noble Roman nose, graceful curves, and a low silhouette.

In fact, classical tradition is followed right down the line.

Fenders, hoods and door frames are welded and shaped and smoothed by hand.

Seats and convertible tops are padded and stitched and fitted by hand.

Now you might think it's sort of crazy to go to all this trouble, just to turn out some fancy Italian sculpturing.

Especially since this body of work ends up on top of one of those plain VW chassis.

But consider.

The chassis includes VW's 4-speed synchromesh transmission, big 15-inch wheels, torsion bars, and an easy-to-service non-temperamental engine.

So that with the Ghia's form, and this functional interior, you've got yourself a pretty solid piece of architecture.

It's known as renaissance Volkswagen.

COMMENTThe Fiasco
At Westmoor

WHILE WESTMOOR High School's infamous hot water leak may have lent itself to some levity in past news stories and headlines, it's time the community is awakened to the shocking reality of this lamentable situation.

Jefferson High School District taxpayers will find themselves in the position of having shelled out nearly a quarter of a million dollars in repair bills for the hot water heating system of a school plant that is just a scant seven years old.

We, along with disbelieving taxpayers, make the simple interrogative: "Why?"

The general contractor who built Westmoor disclaims any further responsibility, as does the subcontractor who handled the plumbing and heating installations.

The firm that supplied the insulation material for the now-leaky underground hot water pipes made a token offer to reimburse the school district, $7,500. The balm was turned down.

HERE'S WHERE the district stands today: An estimate of $135,000 to replace the badly corroded underground system with an overhead heating unit has been submitted by engineers. Couple this figure with the usual architect's and engineers' fees and inevitable extras and the cost will probably soar to $200,000.

Added to the $35,000 the district spent a year ago to begin renovation of the faulty water system and you've got $235,000. This is more than the original installation cost. When the original figure is included, Westmoor will have an investment of at least a third of a million dollars in its hot water heating system.

This astronomical figure does not include the thousands of dollars worth of water that has already leaked away during the past year, dripping at a two-to-three-gallons-per-minute pace and reaching a high figure of 12,900 gallons in a single day.

Nor does it take into account the hundreds of valuable man hours spent by the board of trustees and district administrative personnel pursuing a solution to the problem.

The severity of the situation was heightened further March 13 when the hot water leak actually forced the closing of the school plant. It could happen again before the term ends.

THAT THE school district will have to seek legal recourse to recoup these outlandish expenses is only too obvious. This must be a top priority project for the school board and staff this year.

But, coincidentally with establishing the legal responsibility for the monumental snafu, the school district should launch an inquiry into the whole chain of events leading up to this calamitous project. This district, and other school districts throughout the state, could well profit through the preventative medicine of extracting answers to these questions:

Why was the hot water system installed underground in the first place? Engineers now recommend going to a rooftop system. There must be a reason.

Was there adequate soil inspection and, if so, why did specifications not call for materials of sufficient durability to withstand these particular soil conditions?

Was the state inspection on the job adequate?

If there is no culpable blame, then perhaps there is a serious fault in the whole state framework governing construction of school buildings. Certainly no private business would invest a quarter of a million dollars on a subterranean installation with a lifetime of only seven years.

And yet in school construction, the elaborate hierarchy of manpower would seem to assure a journeyman-quality end product, what with scores of engineers, architects, state allocations boards and their attendant technical advisers, inspectors and ad infinitum.

How does a Westmoor fiasco "leak" through this fine mesh of expertise?

CERTAINLY, in the case of Westmoor's leaky pipes, we most assuredly "want our money back." But we'd also like to know how a Westmoor water leak can be allowed to happen in the first place. Can the same inadequacies in planning allow vital errors in the new hot water system?

Trustees will be doing a service to their district and their neighbors in the school business by digging deep and coming up with a solution that may prevent another quarter million from spilling down the drain.

A Day for The Bard

Barbara Bladen

THE BARD will have his day, 49 of them in Palo Alto and 42 in San Francisco. The activity will honor the dramatist's 400th birthday and it will be celebrated in high style.

Stanford University will present a Summer Festival of the Arts for seven weeks starting June 23 and ending August 9. Frost Memorial Amphitheater on the campus will be converted into an open-air reproduction of an Elizabethan theater. Dinkelspiel and Memorial auditoriums, the Art Gallery, Memorial Church and other campus facilities will also house festival attractions.

Three outstanding West Coast repertory theater companies will participate: The Oregon Shakespearean Festival Association from Ashland, Ore.; the National Shakespeare Festival of San Diego and the San Francisco Actor's Workshop.

In addition to the visiting companies, four British celebrities—counter-tenor Alfred Deller, Elizabethan drama authorities Herbert John Davis and L. C. Knights, and musicologist Robert Donington—will join Stanford's distinguished faculty this summer.

The Plum That Didn't Ripen

Ron Bates

THE DECISION by Serramonte developers to come into Daly City threw a lot of people for a loop in South San Francisco.

Not only the school district of the Industrial City but also city officials were banking on a financial plum to ripen in their neck of the woods.

The developers are advertising the 900-acre project as "a $200-million development" and most of the tax dollars from it will be rung up in the Daly City cash register.

When the South San Francisco School District trustees got a good look at the developers' plans, they immediately started action to shed that part of the development in their area.

It seems they would get almost all of the 1500 single family homes planned and bedrooms just aren't productive—tax-wise.

THE THREE districts involved — SSF and Jefferson High and Elementary — met a couple of years ago when Harry Christen still operated the land for dairy farming. They decided that the extension of Hickey Boulevard should be the most natural boundary line when the area was developed.

It was like a card game with nobody really knowing what kind of hand would be drawn. The regional shopping center could just as easily have been planned for the southern part of the development.

But South San Francisco lost and Daly City schools are expected to rake in the chips.

THE CITY officials expected the Serramonte development to come into South San Francisco because for one thing, the natural drainage and watershed of the area tends to slope toward the Industrial City.

Possible annexation of Serramonte was one of the major reasons city officials insisted that the extension of Hickey Boulevard be listed as a priority project in the $200,000 read study carried out previous to the $35-million county bond issue that subsequently was defeated at the polls.

They were so insistent on Hickey as a prime east-west lateral route they convinced Pacifica to change its plans and build the coast increment of the lateral through Fairmont. That left only the road through the eChristen Ranch to be built, providing easy access from the Bay to the ocean.

But Serramonte went to Daly City and suddenly Hickey has lost its allure. South San Francisco has placed a $50,000 rock on the track and is holding up plans for the second phase of the Junipero Serra Freeway.

The $50,000 is for a cloverleaf connecting Hickey to Junipero Serra. The cloverleaf is in South San Francisco and will displace seven homes in Winston Manor.

If the city holds up the plans too much longer, it will cost the county $250,000 more because of the delay. South San Francisco's share of the cloverleaf is only ten per cent of the whole project.

MANY FAMILIAR faces were seen at the testimonial given to former Pacifica Councilwoman Jean Fassler April 2 at the Thunderbird Inn—faces that were also seen at a similar testimonial given to Mrs. Fassler's supervisory opponent, Joe Verducci, in February.

Undoubtedly it was because Verducci didn't want those faces to turn red that he stayed away from the dinner after he was accidentally sent a ticket (which he bought for $10) by one of the Fassler committee's over-eager volunteers.

Notable among the dinner repeaters was North County Assemblyman Leo Ryan, who comes up for re-election in November. Both Mrs. Fassler and Verducci are well-known Democrats and Ryan was probably making sure he covered all the bases. One of the two will probably be elected supervisor and the winner will be looking for endorsements.

WE'RE KEEPING an eye on Daly City Manager Ed Frank during this next budget session. We want to see if he gives his right arm — secretary Vera Erickson — a nice raise. Why, you ask?

At the last meeting of the San Mateo County of Mayors that Frank was the official secretary, the council formally voted to put the squeeze on him to reward Mrs. Erickson for the great job he got credit for.

It seems Mrs. Erickson, a frustrated Van Gogh, kept coming up with the most interesting meeting announcements in the history of the organization. It got so members were looking forward to the cartoon she drew on the announcements she sent out.

Pacific Parade

Curiosity Can Kill the Cat

HUMAN NATURE being what it is, it wasn't too surprising to see thousands of the curious lining ocean beaches in the Bay Area on the night of the Alaska earthquake last month.

There's something about catastrophe—or the threat of catastrophe—that is to people what pari mutuels are to horse race addicts—they attract each other powerfully.

If a tidal wave the likes of which rolled into Crescent City—or—much worse, like the monster that roared out of the sea and smashed tiny Kodiak Island in Alaska—had swept over Ocean Beach and up over the Great Highway in San Francisco, the loss of life would have far exceeded anything recorded in Alaska and Crescent City combined.

The mob scene that stretched along the Great Highway from Fleishacker Zoo to the Cliff House was witnessed by Daly City Police Lt. Richard Sims and Sgt. Mathew Murray.

"It was like a Sunday afternoon," says Murray. "The San Francisco police finally just gave up. They would start down at the Cliff House and head south, moving people back from the breakwall."

"By the time they got to the zoo, the crowd had closed in back at the Cliff House. It was a losing battle."

NOW YOU may wonder what our finest were doing in foreign territory on a night when a tidal wave had been received.

Sims and Murray were at Ocean Beach in a patrol car as the front line in a key communications link, set up to warn residents in the Estates area of Westlake (just south of the southern tip of Lake Merced) in case a really hefty wave did materialize and sweep over the breakwall.

If it had, so the theory goes, it would have spilled into Lake Merced, swept south through the lake and spilled over into the Estates area. The battle plan was for Messrs. Sims and Murray to radio back to other officers in patrol cars cruising the Estates area in case a big wave rolled up. These officers then would warn residents.

The only flaw in this plan, as we see it, is that if the ocean had decided to wander, what would have happened to our men in blue in their nonamphibious patrol car at the beach?

AS FAR as Thornton Beach was concerned, it was a different crowd story. To wit, there wasn't any. The beach access road is barred by a chain at sundown each day.

But just to make sure on the night of the quake, Daly City police checked the area to see if anyone had slipped by. They hadn't.

In Pacifica where hundreds of residents live in low-lying areas near the ocean, police, firemen, auxiliary personnel and Civil Defense workers had a stiff workout, warning the residents of a tidal wave.

Nonetheless, there were still scores of the curious who even though warned, stood steadfastly on the beaches, hoping to see something that conceivably could have snuffed out their lives if it had materialized.

Police Chief Neil Tremaine's philosophy about the stubborn runs something like this: "Our men have enough trouble in trying to alert the people who NEED to be warned without bothering with those who won't heed warnings." And he adds wryly:

"I'm beginning to think that what we ought to do is get on the highway and tell people they HAVE to go down to the beaches. Then they'd never go."

The chief recalls one of the worst disasters ever to occur just because people couldn't curb their curiosity. It was the Texas City holocaust.

In that tragedy, only a half dozen died in the initial fire but explosions that followed killed more than 400 who had flocked to the scene to watch the flames.

THE ONLY loose bolt in Pacifica's otherwise well-oiled tidal wave alert machinery last month, incidentally, was the premature return of residents to their homes from evacuation centers in Oceana High and Ortega Elementary Schools.

"We had passed the word to the centers for people not to return until we gave them the all-clear but they sort of filtered out," says Tremaine.

It was this same kind of early return, if you'll recall, that contributed to the high loss of life in Crescent City after the Alaskan-born tidal wave.

The answer to the premature business, Tremaine feels, may be an information program designed to give residents of low-lying ocean front areas an idea of the dangers and the characteristics of a tidal wave.

JUST HOW specific any information can get, alas, is nebulous. For though we're getting ready to send our brethren off to the moon, we still don't know enough about such earthly phenomena as tidal waves—specifically, just where they'll strike and with what force.

Moreover, as oceanographers are quick to point out, a tidal wave really isn't a tidal wave at all. It has nothing to do with tides.

The correct scientific term for this is tsunami, a Japanese word. Tidal wave is a misnomer that somebody coined long ago—a misnomer scientists wearily wish would be short-changed—permanently.

Peninsula Panorama

High Style at
The Dog Fights

George Whitesell

THE GENTLEMEN of the Peninsula, as this department has reported before, are brave flouters of the fashions for men.

For the most part they wear what they like. And what they like rarely coincides with the dictates of the male fashion designers of London, Rome, Paris and New York.

The Peninsula men are not unconscious of the fact styles for gents do change and that, in time, the clothes they buy may reflect the current modes in a modest way. But they do put up a gallant resistance against extreme changes. Most, in fact, would not be caught at a dog fight in the garments touted as "the latest thing."

So, for the purpose of informing the well or casually dressed Peninsula men on the garb in which they would not be caught at a dog fight, here is what they must avoid:

THE VERY MILDEST male fashion being currently plugged is plaid slacks—not a matter of great moment.

But from this we move to the matter of suits and the fashion word for the newest creation is "slimline" which, after the "Ivy League Look," cannot be anything but just plain skimpy. You pay for style, not for honest fabric.

What puts the cork in this slimline fashion, however, is that it features bell-bottomed trousers. This is a return to the age of the "The Sheik" and the now forgotten John Held cartoons.

Except for this generosity in trouser cuffs, the slimline gets slimmer and slimmer. Neckties, already narrowed down to the vanishing point, are decreed by fashion to become even thinner and to be fabricated of leather. And slim belts to hold up slimline pants should be only one-half inch wide.

THE REAL TOP in this suit design comes from a designer in Liverpool, home of the Beatles.

It is a one-piece slimline suit of very tight bell-bottomed trousers and an attached, low-cut vest with four brass buttons.

This probably explains why the Beatles wear their hair so shaggy—it is the only way of avoiding recognition short of wearing a veil.

For evening wear described as "avant-garde" the emphasis is on shirts of gold or silver lame, a metallic cloth that up to now was reserved for ladies' evening gowns. This sounds more like "en-garde" to us.

THIS SORT of thing gets progressively more gruesome. If you don't care for the metallic shirts, they have an alternative that really takes the rag off the bush.

The alternative is white poplin shirts with "novelty" lace edging on the collars and cuffs. Gents who want to try this out, who would like to see how they look in lace, can experiment by borrowing blouses from their wives.

Frankly we don't even like to think about the result.

The show-stopper in new male fashions is a creation undoubtedly devised by feather-merchants.

It is a suit made of feathers, to be worn with a pink silk shirt and cuff-links the size of walnuts.

Just in case someone might fail to notice, this ensemble is topped out with a red leather vest.

After that sizzler, this department does not blame any gentle reader who thinks that we made all this up in a fit of delirium tremens. Alas, the tale is true. All the foregoing is an actual preview of male fashions in London and New York.

THE WHOLE, awful story is calculated to make the average Peninsula male look with new respect on his old blue jeans and flannel shirts.

It also makes him understand why, in the romantic ages when men wore curly wigs, lace and feathers, a lot of other men decided male fashions will only intensify rugged individualism in this part of the fashion world—with the accent on the rugged.

What do you wear to a dog fight? We really couldn't say. There hasn't been a professional dog fight on the Peninsula since the turn of the century.

"A WESTERN SAMPLER," from the Tailsman Press, is evidence of the strength of modern poetry. Each of the nine poets included, without design, it seems, represents a school of contemporary poets.

Ann Stanford of the University of California prefaces the selections of her works with this statement:

"I write poetry because it makes me feel good to write it. If what I say strikes a response in the reader all the better."

Hundreds of modern poets, especially some known as beatniks, share her view. Their poetry is very personal.

With great emotion and words of action, they describe their feelings and their opinions and care little about the effect on society or even if there is an effect.

To them the compounded authorial "I" is the common denominator of literature and of living.

Each of Miss Stanford's works in the "Western Sampler" describes a thought or an emotion that she has experienced.

Sugar 'n' Spice

By Neil Norton

"SPRING has sprung, the grass has riz—I wonder where them birdies is?"

With the cold winds blowing, the birdies are playing it smart and waiting for warmer days. Fortunately for us the markets follow the calendar not the thermometer so we have available to us those delicious spring goodies — asparagus and rhubarb.

Asparagus is just as good cold as it is hot and for this reason I always cook extra so there will be some left for salad.

ASPARAGUS SALAD

- 1 head of lettuce
- 1 bunch green onions
- Asparagus
- Mayonnaise
- Lemon juice
- Dash garlic salt

Wash and break the lettuce into small pieces. Cut the green onions and asparagus into the lettuce. Combine mayonnaise, lemon and juice, garlic salt, and pour over salad just before serving.

NOW FOR the rhubarb. Just boiled, it's delicious. Boiled and combined with raspberry gelatin it's delightful. Boiled, combined with raspberry gelatin and with the addition of whipped cream and a pie crust it's de-lovely.

I am indebted to Mrs. Robert Wallace, 1690 Greenwich Street, San Francisco, for this recipe. Mrs. Wallace tells me she collected this recipe when she was visiting in the Midwest last year.

RHUBARB PIE

- 2 cups rhubarb (this is about 1 pound)
- 2-3 cup sugar
- 1 pkg. raspberry gelatin
- 1 Graham cracker pie crust
- 1 tablespoon lemon juice
- 1 can condensed milk

Let cut and cleaned rhubarb stand in sugar overnight. Don't add any water. Cook until tender and add the raspberry gelatin to the hot rhubarb and cool.

Pour condensed milk in ice cube tray and allow to freeze around the edges. Whip and add the lemon juice. Fold into rhubarb and gelatin mixture and pour into cooked crust. Chill for a few hours and serve.

Carolyn also sent me this recipe for orange gelatin salad which she recommends highly.

ORANGE GELATIN SALAD

- 2 pkgs. orange gelatin
 - 2 cups boiling water
 - 1 pint orange sherbet
 - 1 can mandarin oranges, well drained
 - 1 can crushed pineapple, small (well drained)
- Dissolve gelatin in boiling water, then add orange sherbet, stirring until sherbet is melted. When the gelatin is firming up add the mandarin oranges and well-drained pineapple. Mix well and pour into individual molds.

HOW DOES a beef pie strike you? (Not in the face a la the Keystone Cops, I hope!) But if it sounds appealing here is a recipe put out by the California Beef Council.

COLONIAL BEEF PIE

- 2 lbs. lean beef stew meat
 - 1 teaspoon garlic salt
 - 1 teaspoon paprika
 - 1/4 teaspoon ginger
 - 2 tablespoons flour
 - 2 tablespoons oil or drippings
 - 1 can consommé
 - 1/2 cup Sauterne wine or water
 - 4 carrots
 - 3 stalks celery
 - 12 small white onions
- Cut beef into generous chunks, combine salt, Paprika, ginger and flour. Sprinkle over beef and mix until well dredged. Brown meat well. Add consommé, any remaining seasoned flour, and wine (or water), cover and simmer about 45 minutes. Pare and slice carrots; slice celery into large pieces; peel onions. Par-boil vegetables about 5 minutes. Add drained vegetables to meat; cover and simmer until meat and vegetables are almost tender. Turn into 10 x 16-inch oblong baking dish or pan. Cover with pastry; seal edges to edge of dish; prick top crust. Bake in a hot oven (425 degrees) until browned—about 25 minutes.

COLONIAL PASTRY

- 1 1/2 cups sifted all purpose flour
 - 3/4 teaspoon salt
 - 1/4 teaspoon rosemary
 - 1/2 teaspoon thyme
 - 1/2 cup shortening
 - 3 or 4 tablespoons cold milk or water
- Sift flour, salt, rosemary and thyme into bowl; cut in shortening. Add liquid, mixing to a stiff dough. Roll out on floured board to fit top of casserole. Serves six.

Louanne's Datebook

By Louanne Heath

THE WIND was howling and the weather was bitterly cold, but once the guests attending the YWCA's Frock and Frolic entered the Elk's Club in South Francisco, there was gaiety, glitter and warmth enough to match that of the sturdy little fire that blazed in the enclosed patio.

This was the first time the local unit had attempted to combine dinner dancing and a fashion show but certainly it won't be the last for it was a very happy blending. Men, Geneve Castle, the narrator from The Fashion learned, are an appreciative if an uninhibited audience. From the moment the first model, Norma Washford, stepped forth clad in a terry cloth shift and wearing two bright feathers, perched Indian fashion atop her beautifully coiffured blonde hair, it was evident that the men, as well as the ladies, were enjoying themselves.

When Mrs. Castle encouraged Norma to "take it off" and the shift was modestly shed to reveal a light-hearted swim suit of white with Indian motif fringe and embroidery, the tempo was set and from that point on there was never any doubt about the evening's success.

"Our models are all married women with children and yet they are very glamorous," Mrs. Castle said at the show's opening and the girls went on to prove how right she was. Jean Williams was a dashing sportswoman in a casual two-piece ensemble of green. Marie Ricetti with her eye-catching hair arrangement of jet black and stark white looked stunning in all she modeled as did Gail Haggstrom whose slim youthfulness was accentuated by the simple styling of the wig she modeled during the show.

Pat Singer, whose husband, Walt, provided the musical background to the fashion parade, won considerable admiration when she appeared in a cheery red knit skirt with matching vest and white knit top. Glenda Morgan in a pink mohair coat worn over a white knit dress got appreciative oohs and aahs from the audience as did Marsha McGuirk when she appeared in a pink evening dress, which spotlighted her blonde loveliness.

Ann Johnson was a swirling cloud of soft sunset shades in an elegant party gown. Polished cotton was made acceptable for evening wear as styled in muted tones of gray and rose, accentuated by a smattering of turquoise and worn by model Betty Elliott. One of the most versatile styles shown was worn by Lynnette Erlach. The costume was a lovely three-piece suit, created to see its wearer appropriately attired from cocktail to the wee hours of the morning.

A buffet supper and dancing followed the style parade.

AN APPEAL for Pacifica residents to check their closets and cupboards for "white elephants" was issued this week by members of the Tau Gamma Chapter of the Beta Sigma Phi sorority.

According to Mrs. Nita Lucas, publicity chairman, almost any sort of knick knack will be gratefully received by the sale chairman, Mrs. Lorraine Donner. In addition to the usual vases, pictures and ceramics, the committee also hopes to collect a wide variety of toys, books and small appliances. Have something to donate? Contact Mrs. Donner at 359-2079 to arrange for pick-up.

All the items will be sorted and priced and offered for sale April 18 in front of Grant's in the Linda Mar shopping center. The sale will get under way and continue until sold out. Special grab bag treats will be available for the younger shoppers.

MR. AND MRS. MATT KOUBA of Skyline Drive have moved to their new home in San Francisco's Park Merced district.

EFFORTS to organize a new chapter of the Navy Mothers' Club continue, according to Mrs. Mary Cristofani, the contact mother for the Pacifica area.

Two more get-acquainted sessions have been planned for Tuesday and any mothers who have or who have had sons or daughters serving in the U.S. Navy, Marines, or the Coast Guard are urged to investigate this active welfare group.

Mrs. Caroline De Martini, California State organizing officer for the club, will be in Mrs. Cristofani's home, 249 Reichling Street in Valley Mar, at 1 p.m. Tuesday to serve refreshments and disperse information. She will come to Daly City at 8 p.m. to perform the same functions in the War Memorial Community Center. Mrs. Frances Hawkins and Mrs. Lucille Jones, contact mothers for Daly City, also will be on hand to greet guests.

Though no reservations are required, Mrs. Cristofani asked that persons planning to attend call one of the contact mothers so the hostesses will have some idea of the number of guests they may expect. For more information or to indicate your intention to attend, call Mrs. Hawkins at WY 2-4772, Mrs. Jones at PL 5-1674 or Mrs. Cristofani at 359-1508.

MRS. PAT FELDMAN and Mrs. Ann Eason of the North Peninsula chapter for the Florence Crittenton Home are currently engaged in preparing for the unit's second annual membership tea to be held April 29 in the War Memorial Community Center from 1 until 3 p.m.

In the months since this chapter received its charter, the members have shown a remarkable amount of enthusiasm and vitality. After speedily organizing themselves into a working unit, the women went on to undertake a strenuous schedule of volunteer work at the home, in the Still Stylish Shop and in the community education project. While working directly with the girls as well as for them in the community, the members of the unit managed to find the time to present a luncheon-fashion show and raise money to aid in the efforts being made to help girls readjust.

If you like young people and have time for volunteer work, plan to attend the tea and learn more about the home and the local circle.

THE PACIFICA chapter of the American Association of University Women will launch its busy spring program Saturday when "An Enchanted Journey," an original children's play, will be presented in Pacifica's Valley Mar School. Tickets to the 10:30 a.m. show and the 1:30 p.m. show are still available, in limited numbers, to persons calling Mrs. Jan Dutton at EL 9-3487. A charge of 50 cents per ticket is being made for both adults and children.

May 9 and 10, AAUW members will assist the Pacifica Art Festival committee by arranging the display of children's art in the Sanchez Adobe. Jane Stillman is the chairman of this project.

Also on the agenda of the chapter's members is the annual California Division of AAUW convention to be held at the Sheridan Palace Hotel in San Francisco May 14, 15 and 16.

Teenager Asks . . .

By JOE BAVARESCO

Dear Mr. Baveresco:
I am a little puzzled. My parents say it is wrong to invite a boy to my junior prom. I say it is all right. Who is right?
And what is the proper thing to pay for? I have already asked the boy and I don't know what is expected of me.

have a good time. It is proper for a girl to ask a boy if the boy does not go to the same school.

As for what is expected of you, you should pay for the bid since it is your school.

Many boys volunteer this payment. If he does, let him pay, but if he says nothing, you pay. As for your parents thinking you are wrong, well they are wrong. After all, how is the boy to know of your prom unless you ask him.

Of course, if he goes to the same school, it is proper for the boy to ask. So fear not. You are proper and you should ask. Go ahead and have a ball. Remember you only have one junior prom. Make it a good one.

Dear Mr. Baveresco:
What is meant by the expression "in"? My teen-age children are always saying this is "in," that is "in." Pray tell me, what is "in" with the teen-age world.

MRS. MOTHER

Dear Mrs. Mother:
"In" means what is fashionable and popular. Such as you are not "in" unless you are going steady or other such situations or such as clothes. Like for girls:

Rating and teasing hair is out. The loose casual look is "in." Heavy lipstick is out and heavy eye make-up is "in." Smoking is out, (thank heavens.) Sloppy dress is out and dress-up is "in."

Short prom dresses are out and long dresses are "in." Twist is out and the swim is "in."

For boys:
Greasy hair styles are out and no oil on the hair is "in." Tight pants are out and low slung pants are "in."

Cigarettes are out and little cigars are "in." White dinner jackets for proms are out and black tux is "in."

Crew cuts are out and beattle cuts are "in." Quitting school is out and finishing graduation is "in" (thank heaven).

Souped up autos are out and Grand Prix are "in." Elephant jokes are out and sadistic jokes are "in."

Casual dress dances are out. Dress-up dances are "in."

Kids in general are having more fun today than a few years ago, so joking and happiness is "in," and moaning and drama are out.

And that's summation of what is "in." If you are "in," you have it made.

Springfest Planned by Teen Clubs

Six junior teen clubs sponsored by the Daly City Recreation Department are completing their preliminary dance and king and queen contests for the annual "Springfest," Saturday, May 9.

This year's event, entitled "Sounds of Music," will be held at the War Memorial Community Center from 7-10 p.m.

Disc jockey, Bill Keffury will emcee the city-wide dance for junior teen club members and their guests.

Tickets go on sale today at Daly City junior high schools. They will be available from council members of the six clubs until the day of the dance.

Cost of the tickets is 50 cents for members and 75 cents for guests. Each member may bring one guest. Dress for the evening will be summery dresses for girls and slacks and a sports coat or sweater for boys.

A planning committee, composed of two representatives from each club, is completing final plans for the Springfest.

Oceana Will Hold Concert

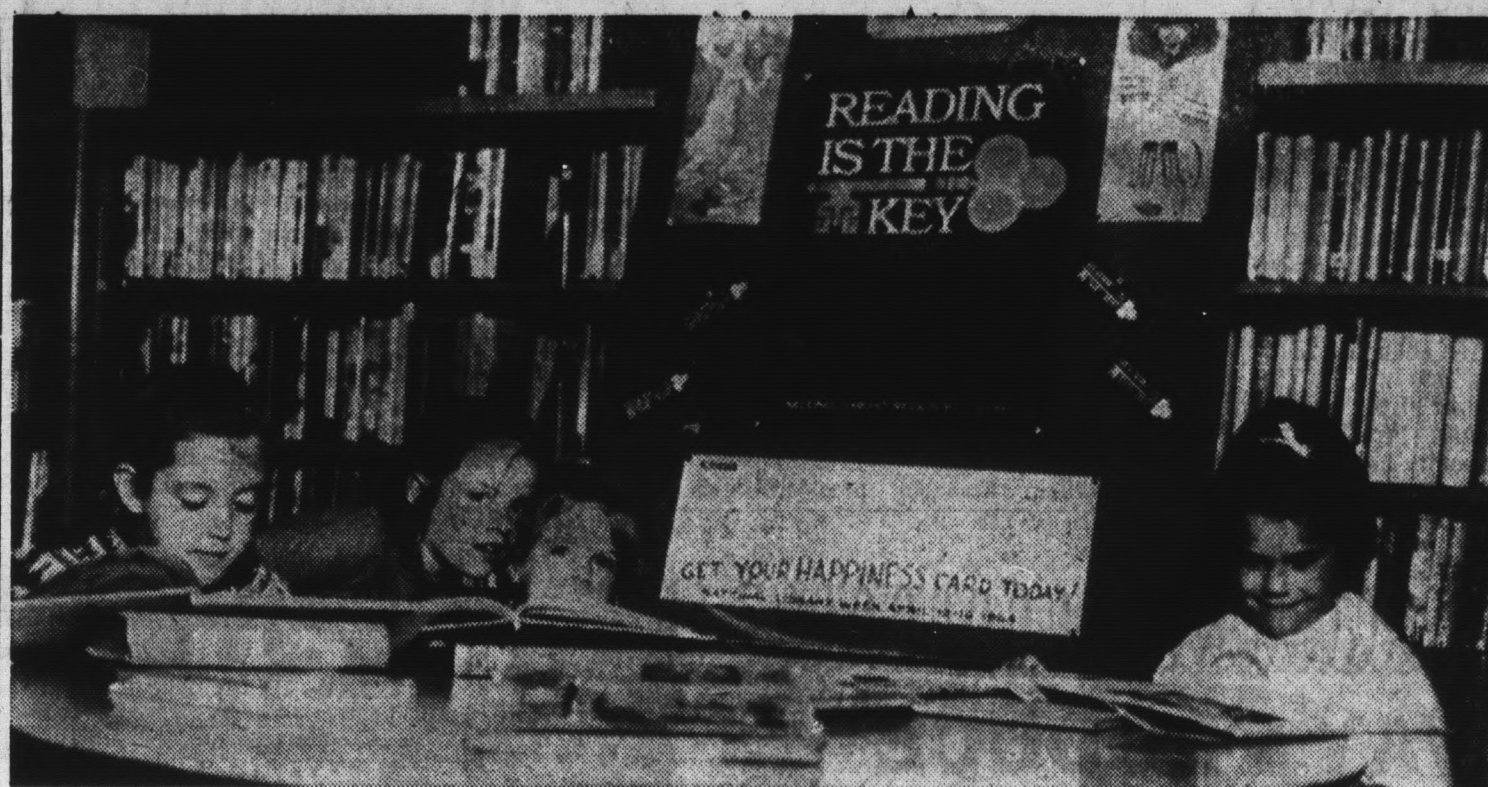

Music students at Oceana High School will present a concert, "Spring Musicales," at 8 p.m. Tuesday in the school gymnasium.

The school's chorus and band will perform.

The concert will be the first major program for members of the chorus although members have sung before at Oceana, Pacific Manor and Pacific Heights P-TA meetings and student assemblies.

The choral program will include both classical and popular music, including Henry Mancini's "Moon River" and Richard Rodgers' "My Favorite Things." The band will play marches, selections from "West Side Story," and ballet music.

'Reading Is the Key...'

Libraries Take Spotlight

"Reading is the key to new worlds" is the theme of National Library Week, currently being observed in Daly City, according to City Librarian Samuel Chandler.

In the picture above, the little world of children is made wider to these children at the Westlake Library. Left to right are Josephine Vamis, 7; Cheryl, 7; Teresa Thacker, 3, and Pamela Snell, 5.

According to Chandler, nearly 10,000 libraries and committees representing public and school libraries in the country will participate in observances.

Approximately 2,000 radio and television stations have received broadcast transcriptions or films that will be featured in some of the most popular shows.

Daly City libraries will feature special displays, including a showing of the paintings of the students of Edna Van Kaughnets' Art School.

No book fines will be assessed during the week and no questions will be asked of people returning overdue and missing books.

Climaxing the observance will be a book fair Saturday in the Westlake Mall. The fair is being sponsored by the Friends of the Daly City Library. Mrs. Frieda Farber is chairman.

Proceeds will be used to further the services of the library.

Style Show Planned by OLPH Teens

"Swing Into Spring" is the theme of a fashion show being sponsored by Our Lady of Perpetual Help Teen Club on Saturday, April 25, in the parish hall at 1 p.m.

Mrs. Isabella Liberti will comment on fashions being provided by The Fashion of Westlake and The New England Shop. Musical accompaniment will be provided by Mrs. Virginia Hethcoat.

Chairmen of the committees involved in the show are: Fred Lofrano, program; Donna Ricci and Bonnie Balestreri, door prizes; Barbara Gonzales and Jeanette Fode, raffle; Joan Fode and Henrietta Arguillo, hostesses; Mike Cagari, hall decorations; Donna Day and Mike Chelone, kitchen; Linda Madonich and Janet Marino, table decorations; Ann Reyes and Cecilia Guirre, reservations, and Mike Parodi, publicity.

Admission is $2 and may be obtained from any member of the club. The show is open to the public.

Terra Nova Topics

By CATHIE REED

EVERYBODY'S moaning and groaning in the halls, nervously biting their pencils to bits, and generally feeling sorry for themselves. It's quarter exam time again. The workmen have been taking the ceilings apart, so everyone can hear what's going on in the surrounding rooms and it's not very pleasant.

Freshmen, especially, seem to have a miserable time with quarter exams, especially in English. Seniors, although they've become accustomed to them, still dread the day they get their tests back.

The seniors are busy making out their last wills and testaments. Although they don't consider themselves so old that they're dying, they do feel that it's only fair to give back to the school a little of what's been given to them, in the form of a holey sock to their social studies teachers, dead fish to the swimming coach, etc.

Very often, something particularly repulsive will be given to a lower classman, especially the younger brothers and sisters of the graduating seniors.

MARTY COIL, a Tau Omegan, made the semifinals at the California State Qualifying Tournament in Humorous Interpretation. His selection was taken from Richard Armour's "It All Started With Columbus." Cheryl Crisp made the semifinals talking about a domestic peace corps in original oratory. The tournament was held at Westmoor and the competition was really rough.

Construction is nearly at the point of relative silence, much to the relief of the teachers and students, but during a recent California Scholarship Federation meeting, the workmen decided to start again with the loudest — and most workmen decided to start again with the loudest — and most — air hammers possible.

'Meet Me in St. Louis' to Be Presented

The Hamletts' Drama Club of South San Francisco High School will present two performances of "Meet Me in St. Louis" this week.

The curtain will go up on the high school stage at 8:30 p.m. Friday and Saturday.

Heading the cast as Mr. and Mrs. Smith are Jay Jones, a senior, and Mary Jane Gibbons, a junior.

Linda Fish will play the role of Rose, opposite Rocky McClure who will portray John Shepherd.

Other members of the Smith family will be played by Libby Scholler, Jan Bueler, June Baskin, Don Rummell and Ron Taormina.

Other cast members are Marilyn Navarra, Greg Valdez, Kathy Carlton, Harold Hensley, Kathy Gardner, Chris Kreidt, Joe Freydoz and Mike Cohen.

The play is set at the turn of the century in St. Louis, a city bustling with activities concerned with the opening of a World's Fair.

The plot involves the fair's opening and the Smith family.

Play Tickets Now on Sale

Tickets went on sale today for performances of "The Clown Who Ran Away," a two-act children's play to be presented by the Teen-age Drama Workshop, sponsored by the Daly City Recreation Department.

Performances will be at 10 a.m. and 2 p.m. April 25, at Westmoor High School; 10 a.m. and 2 p.m. May 2 at the War Memorial Community Center and at 2 p.m. May 9 at Bayshore School.

Tickets may be obtained at the Community Center, Westlake Park Clubhouse and other school and recreation department facilities.

Monies Given At Terra Nova

The Future Business Leaders Club at Terra Nova High School has contributed $150 to the American Field Services program.

FBLA president, Dorothy Little, presented the assistant principal with a check for deposit in the Terra Nova Chapter of A.F.S.

They're Ready to Serve

THESE FOUR students will be among several Jefferson High School students who will serve during a fund-raising dinner sponsored by the school's P-TA Thursday, April 23, in the school cafeteria. The dinner will highlight a P-TA open house program, held to give visitors a chance to tour Jefferson's new building. The students are, from left, Karen Peterson, Betty Cosmo, Diane Puccini and Brenda Buser. The dinner will be from 6 to 7:30 p.m.

D.C. Thefts

Are Reported

Thieves forced open front doors of two Tempton Avenue residences in Daly City last week and removed a number of household items.
 Richard H. Wynne of 767 Tempton told police that a television set had been stolen.
 Richard H. Helmka of 769 Tempton reported that cash, premium stamp books, an iron and other items were missing.

D.C. Fireman Is Delegate

Battalion Chief Wayne Alexander of the Daly City Fire Department will attend the annual conference of the Far Western section of the International Municipal Signalman's Association in Alameda tomorrow and Friday.
 Alexander is educational committee chairman of the association, and will be the chief organizer of the association's first annual Fire Alarm Service School to be held in Daly City April 27-28 and April 30-May 1.

Will S.M. Workers Do Stoop Labor?

Doubts about the use of county welfare recipients in the fields to take up the slack when the Mexican braceros are gone were expressed last week in two sources.
 "Americans don't do stoop labor," Supervisor Edward R. McDonald asserted. "They are not physically able to do it."
 McDonald predicted that the Congress will realize this eventually and reinstate the bracero program, which is due to expire this October.
 William Enomoto, president of the County Farm Bureau, said the farmers' experience with welfare recipients has been generally bad.

 He said, however, that retraining of men for crop work, as suggested by Chairman James V. Fitzgerald of the County Board of Supervisors, might have possibilities.
 Fitzgerald attended a meeting of the Farm Bureau in Half Moon Bay last week and heard a discussion about importing workers from depressed areas such as the Appalachian coal fields. The supervisor suggested to the farmers that, rather than take on the many social problems such a move would bring, it might be better to use unemployed men now on the county welfare rolls.

 Noting the farmers' claim that field work takes a certain amount of skill, Fitzgerald suggested that the county might train the men before sending them into the fields.
 Enomoto said that from time to time the State Department of Employment has sent men from San Francisco and Oakland to work in the crops. About this he said:

 "The farmers should not be required to help the welfare department solve its social problems."
 "A very small percentage of them worked," Enomoto added, "and some of them only long enough to make enough money to buy a bottle of wine."
 "A lot of them are not just unemployed, they are unemployable."
 Others, the farm official said, become discouraged because of their lack of skill.

Fire Causes $50 Damage
 Fire caused damage estimated at $50 Friday to a house occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Ratto at 1027 Wildwood Avenue, Daly City.

Ryan Urges Drive for Sierra Point Crossing

A strong campaign by county cities and organizations to have the western terminus of the proposed new southern Bay bridge be in San Mateo County was urged last week by Assemblyman Leo J. Ryan of South San Francisco.

Ryan said that if the western terminus is Sierra Point in the county, "the favorable impact on the business climate will be without parallel in the history of San Mateo County."

"The increase in commerce will produce a surge of construction, followed by a whole new pattern of jobs, business and industrial activity," Ryan said a decision on the terminus will be made this year and pointed out that San Francisco interests and the governor's office favor Potrero Point in San Francisco.

Transit Meet Is Postponed

The next meeting of the San Mateo County Transit Committee has been delayed while amendments are being worked out for the West Bay transit district legislation.

The committee was to have met April 13 but County Manager E. R. Stallings reported that Howard Looney, chairman of the group's transportation subcommittee, had asked for the postponement.

Thieves Ransack House, Then Sit Down to Party

Thieves stole household goods valued at almost $1200 from a Daly City home last week, then apparently threw a small party in the house to celebrate their feat.

Patrick J. O'Neill of 298 Westlake Avenue told investigators he had boarded up his home before entering a hospital for two weeks.

When he returned last week, he discovered that the house had been ransacked and several items stolen. These included mechanical drawing equipment, dinnerware, a rifle and a stereo set.

He added that he also had found a number of empty wine bottles and food on a table, indicating the thieves had sat down to a party.

Unit Backs Unification

The Jefferson High School District Federation of Teachers has unanimously adopted a resolution lending support to a proposal to unify North County Schools within the present boundaries of the high school district.

The resolution said that unification should free many certificated personnel for classroom duty, thus reducing size of classes in the district.

DREAMY BERRY PUFFS look pretty enough for bridal shower, but will get an accolade from the men too.

Fill May Basket With Strawberries

Not all May baskets need be of flowers. This basket is really a cream puff, baked crisp and flaky, filled with the sweetest of all berries — red, red strawberries. In this case, the berries come from a can of strawberry pie filling. They were picked at the peak of flavor, packed and sealed at their fruit-fresh best. Canned fruit pie fillings like this enable you to enjoy your favorite fruit desserts year-round.

Dreamy Berry Puffs are one of those desserts that look pretty enough for a bridal shower, yet will spark plenty of enthusiasm among the men in your family, too. The cream puffs can be made as directed in this recipe, or you might prefer to use a packaged mix.

Easy Item: Macaroon Fruit Cream

Prepare "Macaroon Fruit Cream" at your leisure during the day and top off dinner with this tempting dessert. The recipe doesn't require the syrup drained from the can of fruit cocktail. But don't discard it. Store the syrup in the refrigerator for later use as some of the liquid in a gelatin fruit salad or dessert.

- MACAROON FRUIT CREAM
8 coconut macaroons
1 teaspoon grated orange rind
1-3 cup orange juice
1 envelope plain gelatin
1/2 cup sugar
1/4 teaspoon salt
1-3 cups milk
2 eggs, separated
1 can (1 lb. 1 oz.) fruit cocktail

In a bowl crumble or dice macaroons and mix with orange rind and juice. Let stand, stirring occasionally, while preparing custard mixture. In top of double boiler mix gelatin, 1/2 cup sugar and salt. Beat together milk and egg yolks; add to gelatin mixture. Place over boiling water; cook and stir until gelatin is dissolved, about five minutes. Remove from heat. Cool to room temperature. Stir in macaroon mixture. Chill until slightly thickened. Drain fruit cocktail well. Beat egg whites until foamy; gradually add remaining sugar, beating until stiff peaks form. Fold into gelatin mixture with fruit cocktail. Turn into 1-quart mold or into 6 to 8 individual molds; chill until firm. Unmold to serve. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Aztecs Enjoyed Avocados Too

Mexico's ancient Aztecs looked on avocados as a staple food — and you may well follow suit after tasting "Tomato Soup Azteca." Hot tomato soup is served with a mixture of mashed California avocado, cottage cheese and seasonings in this hearty, handsome dish which is so easy to prepare. When you're rushed for time and must have a salad in a hurry, simply drizzle California avocado half-shells with bottled French dressing, season to taste, and serve pronto.

- Tomato Soup Azteca
1 California avocado
1 cup small curd cottage cheese
2 teaspoons instant minced onion
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon lemon juice
1 quart hot tomato soup, canned or homemade

Cut avocado lengthwise into halves; remove seed and skin. All remaining ingredient except Mash avocado; combine with soup, bowls; add soup. Serve at once. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

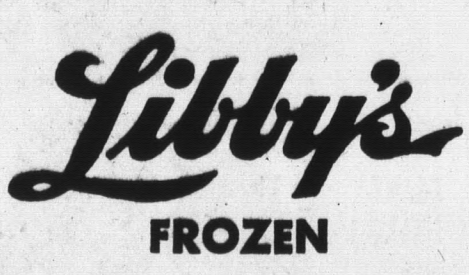

White feathered chickens, which make up most of the billions of pounds of fresh broilers American housewives buy each year, have run into trouble on the island of Taiwan. Most homemakers there prefer to buy live birds and demand the red feathered variety because white is traditionally the color of mourning among Chinese.

POPULAR ORIENTAL DISH, Sweet and Sour Salmon, requires no special ingredients, but may be quickly made from basic supplies in the average home. The accessories in the photograph are only a small segment of the Oriental arts and crafts that will help create the illusion of a trip to Hong Kong at pavilion at the New York World's Fair.

Exotic Journeys For Fair-goers

A unique trip to five exotic lands awaits visitors to a pavilion at the New York World's Fair, soon to open at Flushing Meadow.

Special devices will be used to stimulate the senses to create an amazingly realistic experience of the color, sounds, aromas, and excitement of faraway places.

On entering a serene garden you will find a majestic view of the awe-inspiring Taj Mahal. Steps later will take you to a Bavarian ski lodge high on a mountain top, where skiers speed down the treacherous slopes of the snow-capped Alps.

A walk through a fragrant forest near the ancient temple of Angkor Wat comes next, where the call of the birds and the chatter of monkeys interrupt the mysterious stillness. Then, standing on the promenade deck of a cruise ship anchored off the coast of Rio de Janeiro, you will hear soft Latin music as the lights of famous Copacabana Beach twinkle across the water.

Perhaps the most romantic spot of all on the "Global Holiday" is a stop in the bustling colony of Hong Kong. Here, among oriental shops, you will hear the clatter of rickshaws on the cobblestone streets and the tinkle of Chinese music. You will see the arts and crafts of one of the world's oldest civilizations, experience exciting vistas up side streets and across Fragrant Harbor, you will smell the exotic aroma of Chinese fruits and vegetables displayed in the marketplace.

So true to life in all its aspects of good living, the imaginative Fairgoer will be able to savor the flavor of Chinese foods cooking in an iron wok over a charcoal fire.

Returning to a busy world of reality, many visitors to the Fair may be inspired to duplicate the atmosphere of Hong Kong in their own homes. An easy way to do this is via the kitchen, where any number of exciting Chinese dishes can be made in jiffy time without extravagant trips to out-of-the-way markets. One such dish is Fien Shuen Yu, a sweet and sour fish dish, which uses a can of salmon for basic flavor, color and nutrition. Seasoned with soy sauce, the dish becomes an Oriental experience that will appeal to the palates of all ages. Iced Coca-Cola is an extraordinarily complementary beverage to serve with Oriental dishes, and is especially appealing to the young. A large colorful bowl of cooked rice should accompany the Sweet and Sour Salmon, and "fortune cookies" make a perfect finale to a Hong Kong meal.

SWEET AND SOUR SALMON (Fien Shuen Yu)

- 1/2 cup vinegar
- 1 cup water
- 1 tablespoon soy sauce
- 1/2 cup sugar
- 1/2 teaspoon monosodium glutamate (optional)
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1 tablespoon dark molasses
- 2 large green peppers, cut into 1-inch squares
- 1 cup thinly sliced carrots
- 1 clove garlic, minced
- 1 can (13 1/2 oz.) frozen pineapple cubes

1 1-pound can salmon, flaked
2 tablespoons cornstarch
1/4 cup water or salmon liquid

In saucepan combine vinegar, the 1 cup water, soy sauce, sugar, monosodium glutamate, salt and molasses. Bring to a boil. Add green peppers and carrots and simmer for 3 minutes. Add garlic and pineapple cubes and bring again to a simmer. Add flaked salmon. Stir in cornstarch mixed with 1/4 cup water or salmon liquid and cook, stirring, until sauce is clear and thickened. Serve with fluffy cooked rice, additional soy sauce and hot mustard. Serves 4.

Tomato Gravy Excellent for A Pot Roast

Throughout this nation beef pot roast is a favorite choice. Remember the tender, succulent pot roast grandma used to serve? Of course there was flavorful beef gravy on the side.

Some day soon you'll want to treat your family to this versatile beef pot roast that boasts a tasty tomato gravy studded with ripe olive slices. Just before serving, sour cream is spooned into the gravy to make it extra good.

A home economist and meat authority suggests using leftover pot roast for delicious sandwich making.

Pot Roast with Tomato Gravy
3 to 4-pound beef arm or blade pot roast
1/2 cup flour
2 teaspoons salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
1/2 teaspoon garlic salt
3 tablespoons lard or drippings
1 large onion, sliced
1/2 can (10 1/2 ounces) or 2-3 cup condensed beef consommé
1/2 cup water
1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
1 can (8 ounces) tomato paste
1/2 cup sliced ripe olives
1/2 cup dairy sour cream
Combine flour, salt, pepper, and garlic salt. Dredge pot roast in seasoned flour and brown in lard or drippings. Pour off drippings. Add onion, consommé, water and Worcestershire sauce. Cover tightly and cook slowly 3 hours. Add tomato paste and olives and cook one-half hour or until meat is tender. Remove meat to a heated platter. Thicken cooking liquid for gravy, if necessary. Stir a small amount of gravy into sour cream and add mixture to remaining gravy. Cook just until heated through. Six to eight servings.

Tomatoes

In Cream

Tomatoes baked in cream will give a lift to the most ordinary meal. Arrange thick slices of tomato in lightly buttered shallow baking dish or foil pan. Sprinkle with instant onion, salt and a little nutmeg or finely crumbled oregano. Pour 1/2 cup or more heavy cream or all-purpose cream over tomatoes; dot with butter. Bake in moderate, 350 degree, oven 15 to 20 minutes or until tomatoes are tender.
